

Contents

|                            |    |
|----------------------------|----|
| A Home for Me .....        | 4  |
| Roof of Plants .....       | 6  |
| Home in a Tree .....       | 8  |
| Home in the Rock .....     | 10 |
| Home on Stilts .....       | 12 |
| Tent .....                 | 14 |
| The Right Home! .....      | 16 |
| A Home for You .....       | 18 |
| Look Back, Explorers ..... | 19 |

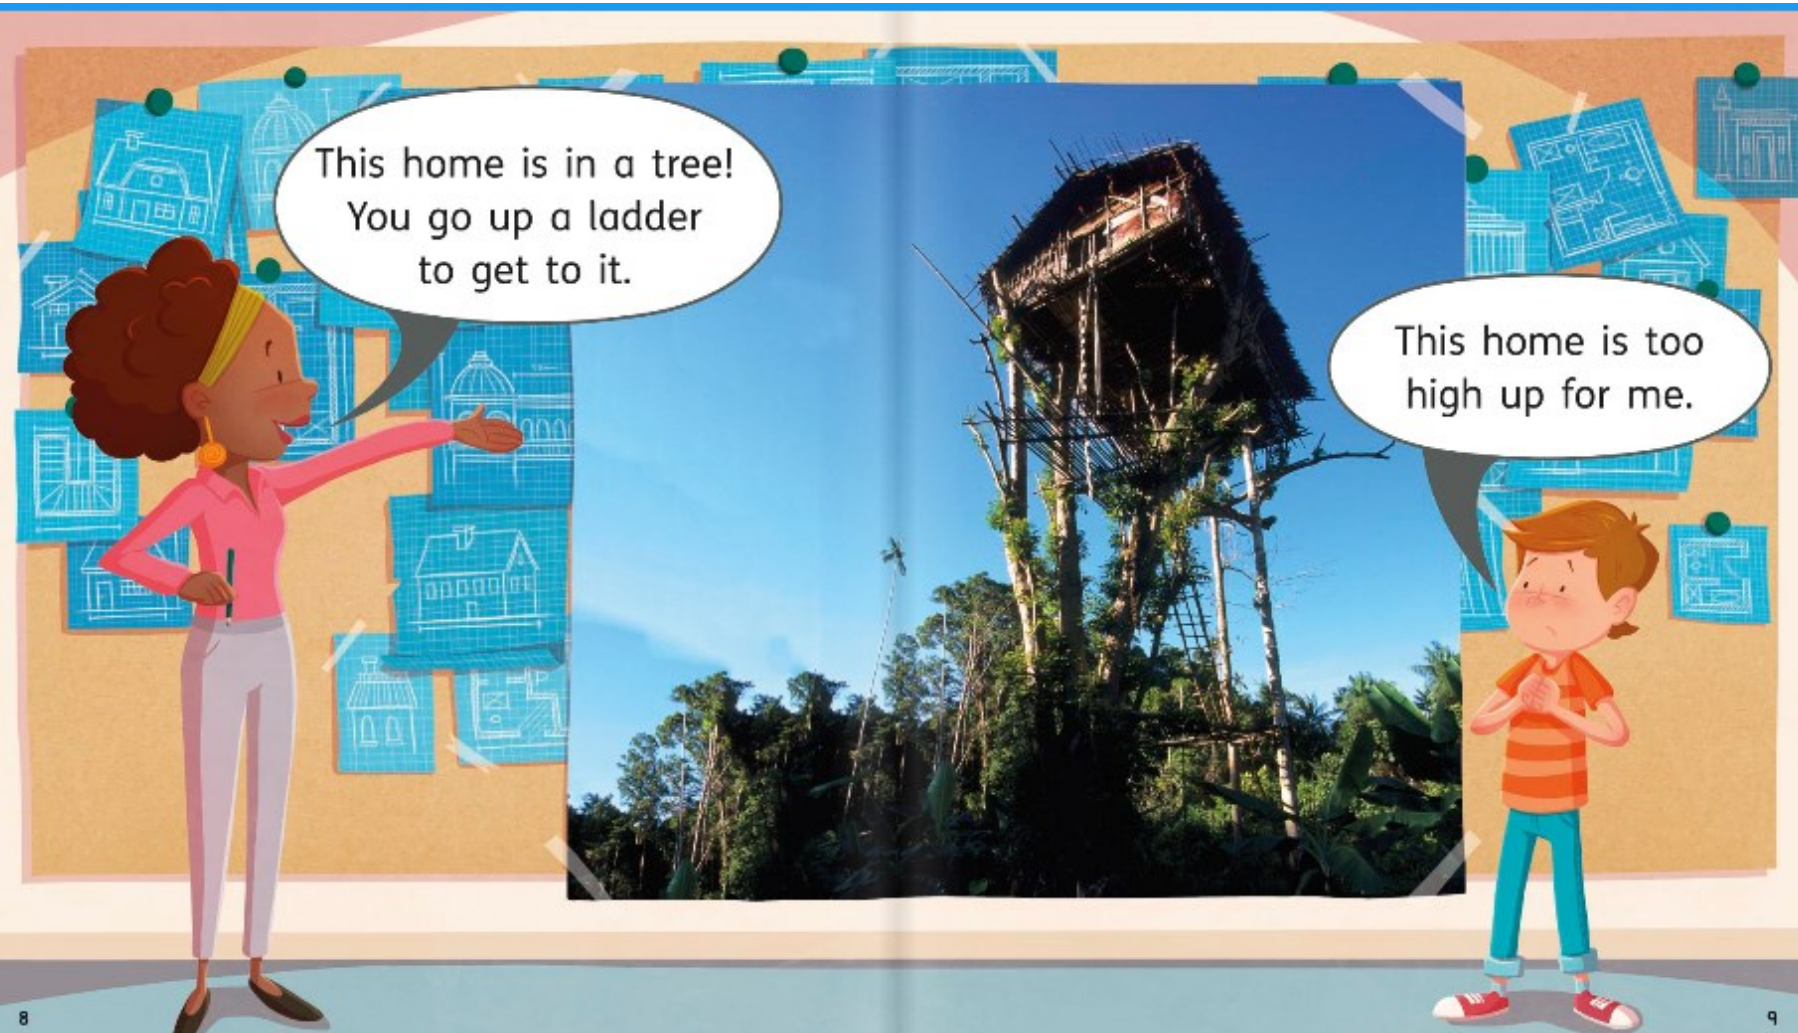

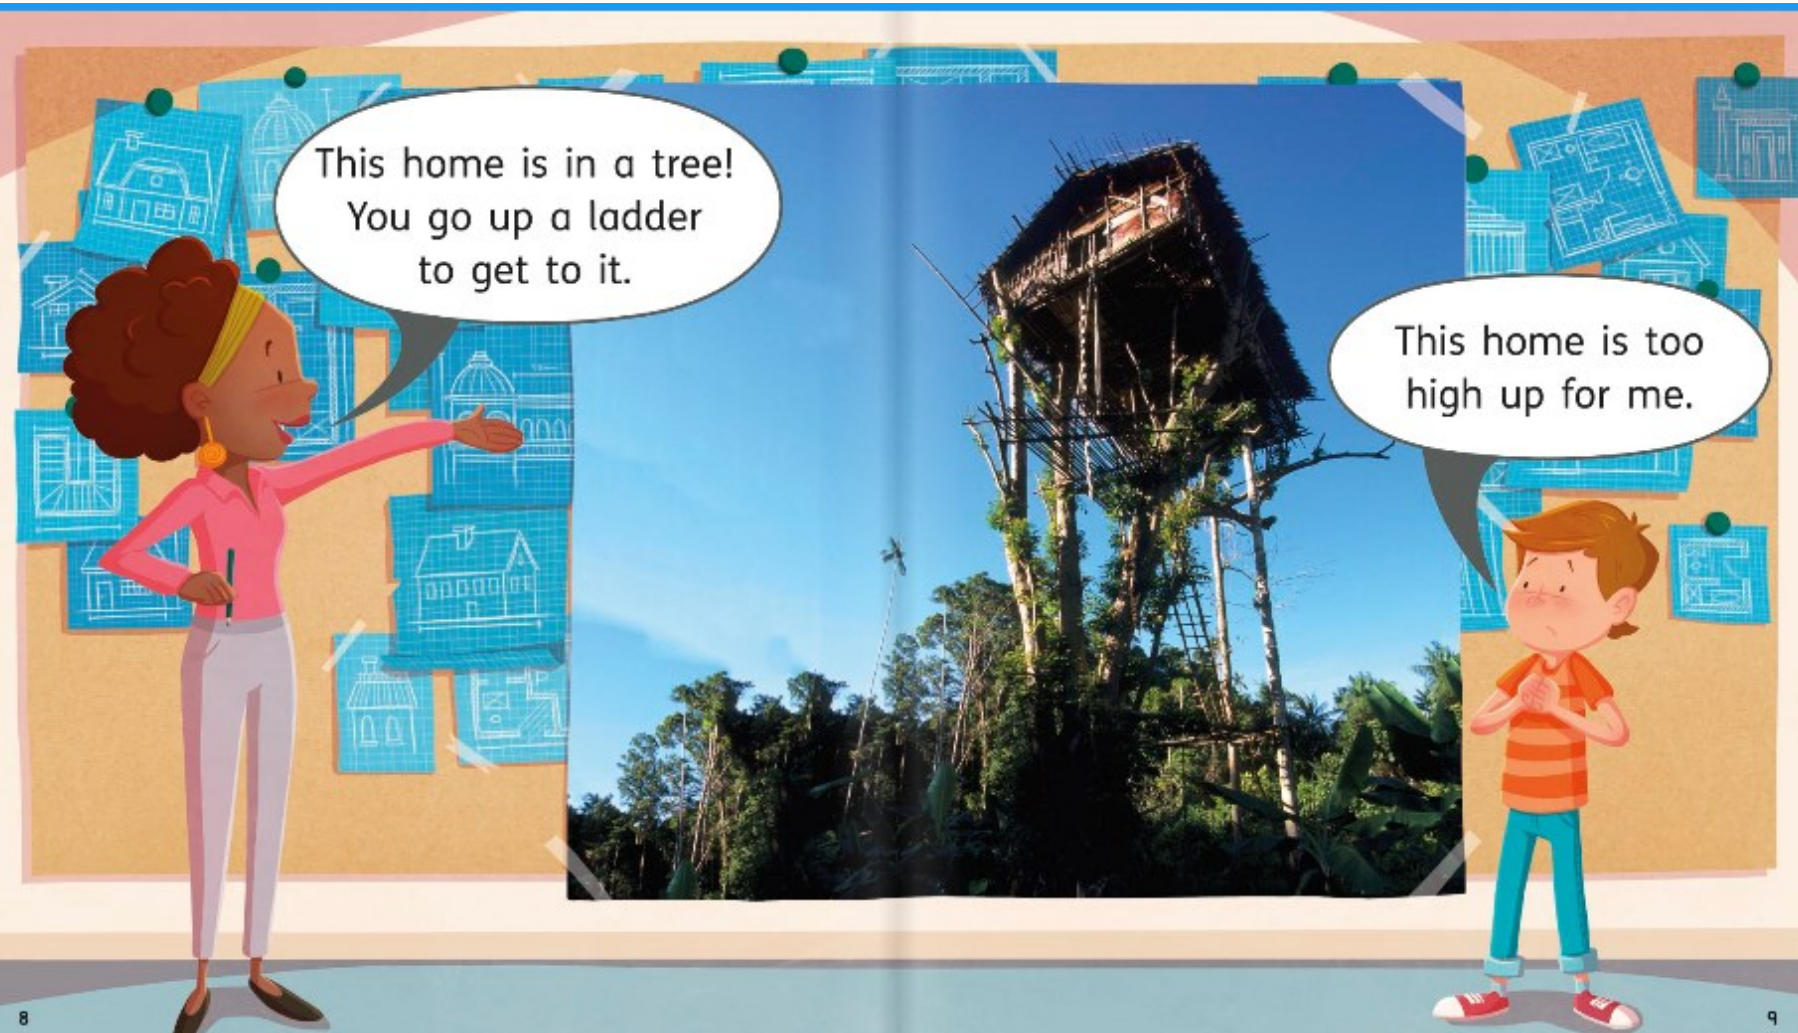

This home is fun.
It has plants on the roof.

This is good,
but I need bigger plants.

A woman with curly brown hair, wearing a pink shirt and light purple pants, stands on the left page of an open book. She is pointing her right hand towards a photograph of a tree house on the right page. The book's pages are decorated with blue architectural blueprints. The tree house is a multi-story wooden structure built high up in a tall tree in a lush green forest. A ladder is visible on the side of the tree.

This home is in a tree!
You go up a ladder
to get to it.

A young boy with brown hair, wearing an orange and white striped shirt and blue pants, stands on the right page of the open book. He has his hands clasped in front of him and is looking up at the tree house photograph. The background of the book pages is filled with blue architectural blueprints.

This home is too high up for me.

This home is down
in the rock. It keeps cool in the sun.

No. My home must be near
a river!

A home on stilts is good if the river gets high.

I need my home to go with me.

You can pack up
a tent and put it up again.

A big storm
might get me
wet in a tent.

You need a canal boat. It can go on a river.

It looks fun! And it has plants on the roof!