

The Bus Trip

Yesterday I went on a bus trip. Mum wanted to buy me a new school uniform, so we caught the bus to London for the day. The bus was a big red 'double-decker'. A 'double-decker' is a bus that has two levels. London has a lot of these buses. We were lucky. We got a seat on the top floor. Mum gave me the window seat.

I loved the view from the bus. I could see so many car roofs below us. When we drove past tall office blocks, I waved to the office workers. Lots of people waved back to me. The bus was full of people too. There were a lot of school children like me, with their parents. You can see so much on a bus. Bus trips are a lot of fun!

The Farmyard

Tom and Marie visit a farmyard for the day. The farmyard has a long wooden fence. There is a gate at the entrance. Inside the farmyard is a brown barn. The barn gives shelter to farm animals.

Tom walks inside the brown barn. The barn is made out of timber. He sees some sheep in a small pen. Then he spies a bright green tractor. The rear wheels are large and high. One day Tom would like to own a tractor.

Marie wants to feed some farm animals. She sees three goats behind the fence. She feeds them a bunch of grass. All of a sudden some sheep run out of the barn. The sheep are hungry. Marie needs Tom to help her feed all the animals. Tom gives Marie a bundle of hay. The farmyard is very busy work!
